

I adamantly support Net Neutrality backed by Title II protections, for I believe that the internet should exist as a public utility, free of preferential treatment by cable companies.